CASE STUDY

Milestone Advisory client approaching retirement

THE GOAL

David O'Connor* had Pension benefits built up from different periods of service with employers within the construction sector. At his initial meeting with Milestone Advisory, we established that his goal was to get a clear view of his financial situation and in particular his various pension assets, and to then decide on a plan for his retirement.

THE PROCESS

Milestone Advisory assisted David in gathering all of the relevant data to make an informed retirement plan. We established his income requirements in retirement and laid out the various options he had with his funds.

THE RESULT

David was eligible to make a last minute AVC to maximise tax efficiencies. He also phased the drawdown of his retirement assets over the course of 18 months to meet his income needs, as he gradually transitioned from work into retirement. While David was unsure whether an annuity or Approved Retirement Fund (ARF) was his best option, Milestone Advisory laid out a clear and concise post-retirement plan. This enabled him to decide with confidence that the ARF route was the optimal solution for him. Knowing that Milestone Advisory review this option with him on an ongoing basis gives David peace of mind that he can live the life that he wants and will never run out of money. He also has a clear strategy in place to transfer his wealth to his family in a tax efficient way.
